ABOUT THE POSITION

Position summary

The Secondary Teacher has responsibility for the learning outcomes of students in their allocated subject area. Secondary Teachers will demonstrate an extensive knowledge of the ACARA and QCAA syllabuses pertaining to their subject areas, and the pedagogies required to deliver them effectively to Secondary students.

Primary relationships

- Report directly to the Head of Secondary via the Head of Department
- Work collaboratively with staff in other departments across the College
- Liaise with parents and families of Students and members of the Flinders community

Main responsibilities

At Matthew Flinders Anglican College, the Flinders Framework for Teaching and the Flinders Professional Behaviours documents inform our daily practice and outlines the professional expectations for the role of a teacher.

All teaching staff are expected to have a deep commitment to developing high level competence as outlined in the Framework:

1. Plan and prepare effective, differentiated teaching and learning programmes using extensive subject domain knowledge, instructional and assessment practices which are responsive to students, data and which are supported by the skilful selection and use of resources.
2. Create a culture of learning through high expectation, support, respect and rapport where student behaviour is monitored and responded to appropriately, and where classroom procedures and physical design, along with positive relationships, support high levels of engagement and achievement.
3. Embed school-based evidence and data-informed assessment and pedagogical instructional approaches which are engaging, flexible, responsive and lead to student mastery of surface, deep and deeper learning.
4. Enact the highest standard of professionalism, always treating all individuals with respect and dignity, and embracing the College vision and values through professional reflection, a proactive approach and involvement with professional learning and the broader co-curricular life of the College, respectful and timely communication, accurate record keeping and the ability and desire to work collaboratively and collegially to achieve stated goals and ongoing improvement.
